RE: RFQ #17-009 Lanterman Development Center – Master Developer

To all submitters and interested parties:

Cal Poly Pomona has received numerous quality responses to the Request for Qualifications for the Master Developer of the Lanterman Development Center. In order to fully review and evaluate the responses, the University is extending its review period. While this extension will shift the overall solicitation schedule, we felt it best to ensure that we thoroughly understand the merits of the firms who responded and respect the effort put into the submissions.

The notification of shortlisted firms, and corresponding release of the detailed Request for Proposals, will occur on October 27th, 2017. The University is evaluating the impact on the subsequent dates and solicitation timeline; however, the private meetings between developer and University will still occur on Thursday, November 9th, 2017.

Sincerely,
