

Written Communication Assessment Rubric

GE Student Learning Outcome: Students will express their ideas through the written word with an awareness of audience, purpose, and form.

Criteria	Advanced (4)	Proficient (3)	Developing (2)	Beginning (1)
Context and Purpose for	Demonstrates thorough	Demonstrates adequate	Demonstrates inconsistent	Demonstrates minimal
Writing	consideration for the	consideration for the	consideration for the	consideration for the
How well the writing addresses	circumstances and audience;	circumstances and audience;	circumstances and audience;	circumstances and audience;
the audience, purpose, and	clearly addresses the intent of	addresses the intent of the	partially addresses the intent	dismisses the intent of the context of the project.	the document.	document.	of the document.	document.
Organization	The document is well-	The document is adequately	The document's structure is	The document lacks the
How well the writing uses a	structured; smoothly segues	structured but choppy at	awkward, impeding effective	structure to convey the system to order ideas and	from one part to another (e.g.,	times with minor impact on	communication of ideas.	writer's ideas.
concepts. (e.g. transitions,	introduction, body, and	the communication of ideas.
sections, paragraphs, etc.)	conclusion) to effectively convey the writer's ideas.
Development	Advancement and growth of	Advancement and growth of	Advancement and growth of	The narrative is incohesive
How well the writing advances	ideas is thoughtful and	ideas is adequately supported	ideas would benefit from	and incoherent with few ideas using compelling and	sophisticated with a wealth of	by appropriate materials,	detailed and concrete	supporting details.
relevant narratives.	supporting material, smoothly	well-integrated into the	support; integration into the integrated into the document.	document.	document is choppy.
Clarity and Grammar	Writing poses no obstacles to	Writing contains some errors	Writing includes sufficient	Writing contains many errors;
How well the writing uses	comprehension, containing	but does not impede overall	errors to confuse or distract	impeding the overall grammar tools to communicate.	few to no errors; displays a	understanding; displays	the reader; displays a defined	understanding; displays mastery level of the written	adequate grasp of the written	grasp of the written word.	inadequate grasp of the word.	word.		written word.
Optional; recommended for program use
Disciplinary Conventions	Demonstrates detailed	Demonstrates consistent use	Demonstrates limited use of	Does not follow discipline-
How well the writing implements	attention to and successful	of important discipline-	discipline-specific	specific conventions; contains rules, expectations, and formats	execution of discipline-	specific conventions with	conventions; contains	significant errors
for writing within disciplinary	specific conventions	minor errors	inconsistencies or errors fields.

Developed by General Education Assessment Committee – Approved December 2018; updated and approved by Academic Assessment Committee, November 2022.