Subject: CAFE Updates | Week of 10/5/2026 | Canvas Analytics for Early Student Support Workshop on 10/6

Date: Mon, Oct 5, 2026

Dear faculty,

CAFE has two opportunities to share with you all, our Flipped and Hybrid Course Design and our Foundations of Accessible Instruction experiences. Both experiences will be cohort-based, ascynchronous, and facilitated by CAFE. The Flipped and Hybrid Course Design experience is targeted to faculty who teach CourseMatch courses, but will be open to all. The Foundations of Accessible Instruction is a new version of CAFE's previous Fundamentals of Accessibilty eCertificate. Upon completion of these experiences, a limited number of faculty will be eligible for a $200 stipend, funded by a Chancellor's Office Online Course Services grant and a certificate and/or badge. There are more details below.

Please get in touch if you have questions.

All the best,

Marisela

Teaching and Learning

- Call for Applications: Flipped and Hybrid Course Design Experience (October 12 – November 30, 2026)
  This asynchronous experience provides practical strategies and resources for designing or redesigning courses that thoughtfully integrate in-person and online learning. You will explore inclusive and equitable teaching practices and make intentional decisions about how students engage with content, their instructor, and one another across learning environments. Most importantly, you will apply what you learn directly to one or more of your own courses.

Who can apply: All faculty members at CPP can apply.

How will applicants be selected? Priority will be given to faculty who teach in the CourseMatch program. Up to 20 faculty members will be selected.

Time commitment: Approximately 15-20 hours

Additional Compensation: Eligible faculty members will receive additional compensation of $200 upon completion of course requirements. Funding is provided from a CSU Online Course Services grant.

Application due date: 10/8/2026

APPLY FOR THE FLIPPED AND HYBRID COURSE DESIGN EXPERIENCE

- Call for Applications: Foundations of Accessible Instruction Course (October 26 – December 6, 2026)

  This asynchronous experience provides instructors with practical strategies for applying effective accessibility practices and Universal Design for Learning in their courses. Participants will gain essential background, actionable techniques, and a deeper understanding of students' diverse needs. By keeping these foundations in mind, instructors can help ensure their courses provide equitable access for students to learn. This is an asynchronous online course facilitated by CAFE staff. Please apply no later than 10/21

  Who can apply: All faculty members at CPP can apply.

  How will applicants be selected? Faculty will be selected on a first-come, first-served basis.

  Time commitment: Approximately 15-20 hours.

  Additional Compensation: Eligible faculty members will receive additional compensation of $200 upon completion of course requirements. Funding is provided from a CSU Online Course Services grant.

  Application due date: 10/21/2026
