SUSTAINABLE LIVING

If you want to help reduce waste and get free stuff, FreeCycle is your answer. FreeCycle is an online network that helps people get rid of things they no longer want by giving them to others for FREE.

EVENTS

The 36th Annual Cal Poly Pomona Hot Dog Caper was held at University Park on October 3rd, 2019 during U-Hour. Students, faculty and staff were able to enjoy entertainment along with free hot dogs, chips, popsicles, and drinks! Volunteers became "Trash Talkers", in which they ensured individuals were aware of what is trash and what is recyclable! Volunteers stood nearby trash and recycle receptacles to make sure individuals were putting their waste in the appropriate bins. Having more "Trash Talkers" will encourage more communication between waste and recycling concerns on campus.

AROUND US

Borreguitas is a small Mexican food eatery that offers labeled vegan and vegetarian options. Vegan choices include street tacos, quesadillas, horchata, and more! Be sure to visit their weekly Tuesday deals to better your experience!

STUDENT SUSTAINABILITY COALITION

The Office of Sustainability gathered all the Sustainability-Related organizations on campus to create a more unified, significant presence of sustainability on campus. Currently, there are a total of five organizations - Alternative Renewable Sustainable Energy Club (ARSEC), California Water Environment Club (CWE), Engineers without Borders (EWB), the Lyle Center Sustainable Student Association (LCS2A), ASI Sustainability Committee, and Saving the Earth from A-Z (ASEZ). You can get involved in one or more of these organizations by visiting their general meetings pictured below:

PAQ SUSTAINABLE FITS

PAQ is a show on YouTube about fashion and street wear. Unfortunately, the fashion industry is one of the biggest polluters. In this Episode of PAQ, they explore sustainable fits made out of sustainable materials such as repurposed goods and textiles derived from corn and even pineapple leaves!
