

Code of Conduct for Library Users

The University Library is responsible for providing patrons with a pleasant and productive environment for study and research, as well as to protect the library materials and facilities. The following policies apply to Library users in all public service areas:

- Food and Drink

For the protection of the building, furniture, equipment, and the collections, the library prohibits the consumption of ANY type of food. Any food brought into the building by library patrons, must remain inside book bags, backpacks, or briefcases, etc... Beverages are permitted in spill proof containers with twist off or other secure lids. Damage caused by food and drink is defined as vandalism and is in violation of California Penal Code Section 594. If you spill your drink, please report it to a public service desk immediately!
