Top 10 Things YOU SHOULD KNOW about SEMESTER CONVERSION

www.cpp.edu/semester

- 1 The first day of fall 2018 for faculty is Aug 20. The first day of fall classes is Aug 23. The first day of spring 2019 for faculty is Jan 16. The first day of spring classes is Jan 19.
- 2 Fall and spring semesters are 15 weeks long, plus one week of finals. Summer session will still be an optional term.
- 3 The 2019 Commencement is scheduled for May 17, 18 and 19.
- 4 Semester Conversion does not change the total annual cost of tuition fees or the amount of financial aid a student may receive. In semesters, students will pay tuition and receive financial aid twice a year.
- 5 Cal Poly Pomona has made a pledge that students won't lose credits because of Semester Conversion. Students should meet with an academic advisor to work on a transition plan.
- 6 Students should plan to take 30 semester units every academic year. Students can learn more about the benefits of taking 30 units at www.cpp.edu/take30.
- 7 MyPlanner and the Conversion Guide are just a few of the tools that can help students plan. Visit Student Success Central at www.cpp.edu/studentssuccess to find a full list of resources.
- 8 In a semester calendar, students will have more options for research opportunities, internships, study abroad, and taking courses at other CSU campuses. Students will also have more time to delve into course material and cultivate relationships with advisors, faculty, staff and peers.
- 9 Semester courses will be available in a variety of different timeslots and days, including Saturdays and Sundays.
- 10 The Semester Conversion website has a wealth of information for the Cal Poly Pomona community, including a student handbook, concept videos and more. Please visit www.cpp.edu/semester.
